1. Introduction

The purpose of this User Manual (UM) is to provide AFMA members with the necessary information to utilize the AFMA Stats system effectively when submitting their monthly Feed sales information.

1.1 Overview

The AFMA Stats system is organized into the following distinct modules:

1. Feed Sales
2. Industry Profile
3. Salmonella

The monthly submissions made by AFMA member companies through the AFMA Stats system are highly valuable and play a pivotal role in developing robust feed industry statistics that provides industry information regarding manufacturing, sales, and contamination trends observed. The data submitted via the AFMA Stats system creates a benchmarking platform for the feed industry and supports liaison and collaboration initiatives with the government and other agricultural value chain partners. The company data is accessible to the relevant participating AFMA members (password protected), and the overall reports are published annually in the AFMA Chairman's Report.

2. Getting Started

2.1 User Access to the AFMA Stats system

Users can gain access to the AFMA Stats system via the following website located at https://www.afmastats.co.za.

AFMA members can log in using their personalized Username and Password (Figure 1).

First-time users:

- Usernames will be provided by the system administrator at the AFMA Office.
- Once you have received your personalized username via email, log in using the following link: https://www.afmastats.co.za.
- The system will prompt the user to reset their password upon initial login.

Caution: Remember to keep your username and password safe.

Password requirements:

- Password must be 8 characters or more.
- Must contain at least 1 uppercase and 1 lowercase character.
- Must contain at least 1 number.
- Must contain at least 1 special character, e.g., $, * or &.
- Must not contain any spaces.

2.2 Reset a Password

The AFMA Stats system incorporates a self-service password management tool that enables users to independently reset their passwords.

Registered users of the AFMA Stats system can reset their passwords by selecting the "Forgot password" option (Figure 2). The system will automatically guide you through the password reset process. Please refer to section 2.1 for the specific password requirements.

2.3 System Organization & Navigation

On the dashboard of the AFMA Stats system, users can locate various modules. These modules include:

- Feed Sales
- Industry Profile
- Salmonella

Please note that users will only be able to see and access the particular module(s) that has been activated for the user. The active modules will be displayed on the dashboard and left windowpane (Figure 3), allowing users to easily navigate between them within the AFMA Stats system.

June	20 July
July	20 August
August	20 September
September	20 October
October	20 November
November	20 December
December	20 January

4. Submit a Report

4.1 How to Submit a New Report

Follow the following steps to submit your monthly Feed Sales report:

1. In the left navigation pane under the Feed Sales module, click on "Submit Reports".

2. Select the relevant month to complete (Outstanding).
3. Click on the "Manage" button to edit the outstanding monthly Feed Sales report.

   NOTE: Submitted Feed Sales reports cannot be edited by the user. Errors may, however, occur on submitted reports, and a request for correction should be submitted to the administrator via email (see section 4.2)

4. Click on the "Edit" button to edit the fields on the following pages (where required):
    - Finished Products
    - Raw Materials
    - Summary

5. On the "Finished Product" tab, choose the appropriate "Product" from the dropdown menu, input the corresponding amount of feed sold for that product, and click "Add" to include the product. Repeat this step until all relevant finished products sold for that specific month have been added. See the list of available Finished Products in the AFMA Stats system in Appendix B.

6. On the "Raw Material" tab, choose the appropriate "Material" from the dropdown menu, input the corresponding amount of raw material sold for that product, and click "Add" to include the product. Repeat this step until all relevant raw material products sold for that specific month have been added. See the list of available Raw Materials in the AFMA Stats system in Appendix C.

7. On the "Summary" tab, you can view the difference between the amount of feed manufactured and sold, and the amount of Raw materials used in the process as a unique control measure. The difference should not exceed 3% and users can add a “reason” and/or “Comment” for the difference between Total Raw Material Usage (A) and Total Finished Product Usage (B) if needed. Finally, click on the "Save" button to save the information.
